

Information on Past Participants:

Working on my own independent project as part of the Undergraduate Student Scholars Program helped me realize the excitement of research. The mentorship and training I received put me on the path to a future career as a physician-scientist.

Hann-Hsiang Chao, MD-PhD student, University of North Carolina

The program exposed me to the range of problems being considered by physician-scientists today, and convinced me that these problems were the kind I wanted to study for the rest of my life. Through lab meetings, faculty seminars, and a small research project, the program gave me a rare peek at careers in academic medicine.

Michael Mashiba, MD-PhD student, University of Michigan

My experience in the lab was exceptional and I learned more here than in any of my classes in college! The experience at the University of Pennsylvania gave me the ability to think like a researcher and to meet people whose passion for research is contagious.

Yuliya Yermolina, Medical Student, University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey
